

Chinese Law Students Society

The Chinese Law Students Society (CLSS) at the University of Sydney, Australia, is dedicated to enhancing the quality of student life at university and providing our members with opportunities on a global scale.

Who we are

CLSS was founded to cater to students with an interest in law, and opportunities beyond Australia's borders. We provide to our fellow students:

- Careers information sessions for international law firms
- Peer-assisted study sessions and peer mentoring programs
- Social activities, connecting students with each other and with law firms

We understand your needs

- Our relationships — CLSS has built successful relationships with international law firms, and has hosted a number of successful campus presentations by some of the world's most prestigious law firms.
- Our team — CLSS executives understand the needs of international law firms. Many of our executives and advisory team members have worked, or are working, for the region's most successful law firms.
- Our partners — CLSS, together with the Sydney Law School and the University Careers Centre, bring a wealth of experience and expertise to organising events and presentations.

We will reach your target audience

CLSS has over 400 active members, and we have the ability to communicate to all Sydney University law students. Most are from an Asian background and speak one or more Asian languages. The stringent entry criteria at Sydney Law School ensures you will gain access to students of only the highest calibre.

We provide an excellent opportunity for your firm to gain name exposure, promote your profile and to ensure that the highest calibre graduates are working for you. Engaging with CLSS will help you remain a market leader well into the future.

The services offered in our sponsorship packages are flexible and we endeavour to tailor them to your needs. Please feel free to contact us for more information.

Society Profile

CLSS has a multi-pronged strategy of student development through its four main portfolio areas: Careers, Education, Social, and Publications.

Education

CLSS aims to further the academic ambitions of our members. We plan to do this by hosting a number of events designed to assist students in their studies including:

- a mentoring program for first-years to help them adjust to university life
- first-year study sessions for:
 - Foundations of Law
 - Torts

Careers

An important purpose of CLSS is to help its members explore career opportunities in Australia and around the world, especially in the Asia-Pacific region.

CLSS can deliver information about its opportunities to its targeted member base, who have the motivation, outlook, and skills to pursue successful legal careers.

We plan to host a series of activities to provide information on a diverse range of opportunities for our members, including our flagship event, the Hong Kong Law Fair. These events facilitate direct targeting of students who may not have heard of your firm, and allow you to successfully correct any preconceptions potential graduates may have.

We will also compile an international firms careers guide, and conduct mock interviews.

Social

CLSS will host a number of social events in 2010, including:

- Start of year party
- Annual ski trip
- Multicultural food nights
- End of year party

Publications

CLSS publishes a regular student oriented newsletter, called The Gavel. It includes a mixture of legal news, articles and student journalism. The Gavel is distributed freely on campus in print, and via e-mail, and is accessible from our website.
